The Northern Health Network in partnership with Kidney Health Australia's Primary Care Education Program is pleased to present an interactive case study based workshop.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

- Demonstrate the ability to stage chronic kidney disease (CKD) through accurate interpretation of kidney function.
- Discuss the high prevalence and poor outcomes of CKD among Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people.
- Define the goals for best practice management of CKD, particularly stage 3.
- Determine the appropriate management for complications of stage 3 CKD and which patients to refer to a Nephrologist.
- Implement a practice-based system, for patient safety, to identify patients at higher risk of CKD for a kidney health check.
