Sonder has a long history of building and sustaining workforce development. Sonder has developed a variety of networks which bring together health professionals from general practices of medical specialists. We currently provide support to Practice Managers, Nurses, GPs and Practice Owners.

Members of Sonder's Practice Owners Network have the opportunity to attend quarterly network meetings. The network provides members with a forum to; build the capacity of general practices, learn about the changing face of the primary health sector, share opportunities to improve the patient experience, be inspired by a range of exciting speakers and be a voice for change.

Topic: What can Australian general practice learn about high performing Primary Care in the USA?

Dr Chris Bollen and Jane Bollen attended a conference in San Diego on 'Improving Primary Care' in 2018 and then visited high performing primary care practices in Portland, Oregon and San Francisco, California. In the USA, there are many examples of primary care doctors changing how they work in order to deliver better, more sustainable care at local community level. Australian General Practice has many advantages but there are some things we can learn in order to keep our practices high performing for the future as we confront the growing burden of chronic conditions, ageing, polypharmacy, fragmented care, workforce shortage, consumer choices and financial sustainability.

Join us for an evening reflecting on what was learnt from an overseas tour, while enjoying wine from Sussex Squire, a high performing boutique winery in the Clare Valley, owned by Mark Bollen, and recently awarded 5 star winery status by James Halliday.
